

Successful trainee Jennet Previtera (centre) with Rachael Jones of Jobtrain (left) and co-ordinator Heather Cocking.

Trainee success story

HINCHINBROOK Family Day Care shares with the community that Jennet Previtera, a school-based trainee from Ingham State High School, has successfully completed her Certificate Three in Business Administration.

“It has been a real joy to have a young person working in our office and to help Jennet reach her personal goal,” service co-ordinator Heather Cocking said.

Hinchinbrook Family Day Care is a community-based organisation that provides a home-based quality child care service to the communities of Ingham and Tully.

The service caters for children from as young as a few weeks old, to children up to the age of 13 years.

Currently Hinchinbrook Family Day Care is seeking new applicants interested in being child care providers in Ingham, Forrest beach, and Tully.

The service supports child care workers in reaching out for formal qualifications in Children’s Services and also provides non-accredited training and personal support to its contractors.

More information can be obtained from Shop 8 High Park 72 Herbert Street Ingham